

Feelings can change quickly and the people in your family could be feeling all kinds of different things, sometimes all at the same time. Perhaps today someone is feeling ...

upset

angry

in a good mood

excited

grumpy

proud

happy

But whatever your family is like today, it won't be the same as any other family in the world. Your family is special because it's different, because you are part of it, and because it's yours.
